Released Airmen To Tell Captivity Story Tonight

ERDING, Germany, (AP)—Four American airmen gave U. S. intelligence officers a full account today of their 40 days in the hands of Communist Hungary. But their scheduled news conference to tell the world about it was delayed until a Washington State Department official could arrive from Frankfurt.

City Accepts 12th St. Plat

12 Property Owners Okay Dedication

Salem City Council at a special meeting Friday accepted the plat dedicating 12th St. from Ellsworth Ave. west to the west line of the Buckeye School property, and Buckeye Ave. from the north line of present Buckeye Ave. to W. 12th St. and then north along the side of Buckeye School to the north side of the school property.

The plat was signed by all of the 12 property owners and by E. S. Dawson and George Koontz, president and clerk respectively of the Salem Board of Education.

The Board of Education has been trying to get W. 12th St. opened up since 1949, when the Buckeye School was completed. The compromise between the property owners and the Board was finally negotiated by council's street committee and interested residents of the 12th St. area.

At last night's meeting council approved the transfer of $2,000 from the contingency fund into the public employees retirement fund and the transfer of $12,500 from the lands and buildings fund into the new City Hall fund.

Several transfers of funds within the water department also were approved by council.

Diplomatic Tie With Hungary Likely To Stay

State Dept. Closes 2 Consulates After Airmen Incident

WASHINGTON (AP)—Contacts between the United States and Hungary were down to a bare minimum today but a complete diplomatic break was ruled out, at least by this country.

U. S. retaliation for treatment accorded four U. S. airmen by the Communist satellite nation came swiftly. The four spent 40 days in a Red jail.

Haggard but jubilant, they won freedom yesterday after the U. S. paid their fine—$120,000.

Warning to Others

Retaliatory steps were announced by Secretary of State Acheson late yesterday, coupled with a warning obviously aimed at the whole Communist bloc that reaction to similar incidents in the future may be much harsher.

Acheson announced the United States was banning American travel to Hungary and ordering immediate closing of Hungarian consulates in this country. They are located in Cleveland and New York. The Hungarian legation here remains open.

At the same time, Acheson said the U. S. had paid the fines imposed by a Hungarian military court on the four air force men on the charge they violated Hungary's border when they flew over it on Nov. 19.

He added: "But we have not paid willingly, and we state clearly, in order that there may be no misunderstanding of our attitude in the future, that our patience is not inexhaustible."

Senators Back Action

From Capitol Hill came some demands for stronger retaliation. "You can't have diplomatic relations with bandits," said Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa). He urged serious consideration of "a complete break in diplomatic relations."

Senator Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me) expressed the same thought.

The U. S. says the fliers went into Hungary because they were lost and not, as the Reds had said, to spy.

Acheson made it clear, that payment of the fines did not imply the U. S. thought the penalty was valid.

"We value the welfare of the individual above all else," he said, and the most important consideration was to get the men released.

Patrol Clerk Dies After Street Scuffle

COLUMBUS (AP)—A 50-year-old payroll clerk of the state highway patrol collapsed and died today within sight of patrol headquarters—a few minutes after a purse-snatcher attacked her.

The acting coroner, Dr. Carl Tetrick, said he didn't know whether Miss Louise K. Langbehn died of injuries received in a scuffle with the purse-snatcher or of injuries received when she fell to the pavement.

Homicide detectives began a search for the purse thief.

An unidentified state highway patrolman saw the attack on Miss Langbehn. Police quoted him as saying the thief grabbed Miss Langbehn's purse. Miss Langbehn resisted. They struggled and after the attacker fled she collapsed.

Miss Langbehn was a member of a well-known South Columbus family. The Langbehns originally came from Youngstown.

Regardless Who Made Flag, Stamp Credits Betsy Ross

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Post Office Department today flatly refused to get into an argument with anybody over the new Betsy Ross stamp to be issued at Philadelphia Jan. 2.

Challenged by a Washington editor on the matter of historical accuracy, officials took the position that the story about Mrs. Ross making the first American flag is a beautiful story, true or not, and that the three-cent issue commemorating it is a beautiful stamp.

And that, they said, is that. M. E. Schnapper, editor of Public Affairs Press which publishes reference books in the economics and history fields, wrote the challenge.

European Coast Ships Battered By Hurricane

2 U. S., 5 Foreign Vessels Threatened By Howling Storm

LONDON (AP)—Howling hurricane winds washed mountainous seas over sinking ships along Europe's Atlantic coast today and set off a series of frantic distress calls.

At least seven threatened vessels, including two American freighters, radioed SOS signals. One ship was driven aground. Others were taking water rapidly and in serious danger.

The 6,711-ton U. S. freighter flying Enterprise, carrying 40 crewmen and 10 passengers out of Hamburg said she was listing 45 degrees and "was taking water." She was wallowing off the southwest tip of England.

Help was standing by the Flying Enterprise and was at hand or on the way to other threatened ships.

Winds as high as 89 miles an hour whipped up the worst eastern Atlantic storm in many years.

Ports and Airports Closed

Ports and airports closed in many places. Coastal towns from Spain to Denmark were battered.

Hundreds of small boats were sunk at anchor on the French and English coasts. Tidal floods hit river mouths all along the shore.

Most transatlantic air travel halted after the Shannon River washed over low-lying Shannon International Airport. Authorities said the field would be unusable until tomorrow or Monday.

The Queen Mary finally docked at Southampton 72 hours late. Its captain, Harry Grattidge, said the trip was the worst he had made since 1914. "There was no other word for the seas but 'terrific'," Grattidge said.

The Holland-America liner Noordam stood by the Flying Enterprise part of the night.

None of its rescuers indicated immediately whether they had been able to take off the crew and passengers. Earlier the Flying Enterprise had radioed she hoped to stay afloat until daylight and transfer her passengers then.

The 7,256-ton freighter Bucaneer of Panamanian registry radioed it was powerless with a lost propeller and needed help. French and Dutch tugs went to the rescue.

In the same area, the 4,300-ton Henry Stevenson from New York messaged for aid saying, "Quick, unable to hold."

U. N. Drops Demand For Air Inspection

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—The United Nations negotiators made their "most important concession" today in a move to break the long Korean truce talks deadlock. And the Communists agreed to divulge the fate of some 50,000 unaccounted for war prisoners.

The U. N. negotiators said they would abandon their demand for aerial reconnaissance and negotiate the question of troop rotation if the Reds would accept without change a new compromise plan for policing a truce.

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, official U. N. spokesman, said the decision to withdraw the demand for aerial observation during an armistice was made "with the greatest reluctance."

"This is by far the most important concession the U. N. command has made," he said.

Rear Adm. R. E. Libby said the Communists "grudgingly" agreed to supply information on all U. N. and South Korean soldiers they have captured. In return, the U. N. allies will give the Reds further data on the list of Red prisoners given the Communists Dec. 18.

Prizes Await First Baby Of New Year

The first baby born in the district in 1952 will receive more than $100 worth of gifts from Salem merchants and manufacturers in the fifth annual First Baby Contest.

The prizes listed in yesterday's News include baby gifts, bedding and nursery equipment as well as many other useful and lasting articles. Babies born in Salem and adjoining townships are eligible. These townships include Perry, Salem, Center and Fairfield in Columbiana County and Goshen and Green in Mahoning County.

The winner will be announced officially Jan. 7, giving the contest editor time to receive all entries. Parents should obtain the attending physician's signature and list the exact date, hour and minute of the baby's birth, and sex, weight and color of eyes of the child, and give the parents' address.

Last year's winning baby was not born until Jan. 2, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Wesley L. Houser of 958 W. Pershing, Salem.

County To License All Trailer Camps

House trailer parks—any site with three or more trailers—must now conform to regulations of the Ohio Sanitary Code and pay an annual license fee to the health department in charge.

The Columbiana County Health Department has mailed regulations and application blanks to nine courts in the general health district.

Russell Franklin, sanitary engineer, said operators will be given a week or two to reply before field investigation is made.

New parks must make application 30 days prior to opening. Licenses will be issued only when the court meets the regulations.

Fees vary according to the number of trailers. A court with three to 24 pays $15, one with 25 to 99, $25, and any having 100 or over $35.

Franklin said the known parks in the county health district are Wilson's, Megert's and Garden City, all near Salem; the Valley Trailer Park and Parkway Court, both near East Liverpool; Hanna's at Hanoverton, Black's near Lisbon, and Hutzley's and Barber's on Route 62 near Alliance.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Trombacco of New Springfield are the parents of the 1,000 baby born this year in Salem City Hospital, the first time in the history of the hospital that that many babies were delivered in one year.

The infant, a 6 pound, 14 ounce daughter whom they named Beth Ann, was born at 9:42 p. m. yesterday. The father is employed at the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co., shipping department.

Plans of Hungarian Consulate Unknown

CLEVELAND (AP)—Plans of the Cleveland Hungarian Consulate remained a mystery today, despite a U. S. State Department decision to close its office.

When a reporter knocked at the consulate office yesterday, the consul, Miss Zeussana Fazekas, opened the door.

Courteous, but resisting questions about her future, Miss Fazekas insisted that she had not been officially informed about the closure order. The other consulate is in New York City.

Smiling, she said: "You want a big story, but I cannot make you a big story." She shrugged when the reporter asked her where she would go, but told him her home is in Budapest.

Miss Fazekas has been renting a home here at $400-a-month.

The Hungarian consulate was reopened here in July, as a condition of releasing Robert Vogler.

New Chemical Changes Worn, Useless Land to Virgin Soil

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Worn-out land is changed into structurally virgin soil by a new chemical discovery announced to the American Association for the Advancement of Science today.

It is a yellow, synthetic powder, which literally changes the soil itself. It is not a fertilizer, but crops grow from 25 to 100 per cent higher yields.

It makes better baseball diamonds, stops erosion, and provides cheaper road-building.

This magic powder is made of the same stuff—acrylonitrile—which makes the latest synthetic suits and dresses, the kind that won't wrinkle when wet.

The powder has an electrical

CIO, Republic Steel Halt Negotiations

CLEVELAND (AP)—Union negotiators have broken off wage talks with Republic Steel Corp., accusing management of "stalling, slow boxing and stalling."

This is the first time the CIO, United Steelworkers have taken such action against a major steel firm since the negotiations started.

William F. Donovan, district director for the union and head of the Republic union negotiators, said yesterday in a statement: "About the only thing we could agree upon was that we are going to celebrate New Year's Day on Jan. 1, and we wished each other a happy new year."

Management negotiators pointed out that the dispute has been referred to the Wage Stabilization Board by President Truman and said that negotiations had been "renewed." Both parties are to meet with the board in Washington Jan. 7 in any case, the firm stated.

Lisbon Jail To Close For Repairs Next Week

LISBON — The Village Jail, overnight stopping place for inebriates and Columbiana County prisoners destined for Mahoning County Jail at Youngstown, will be closed a week for repairs. Police said the block will get a new floor, plumbing and dry paint.

Sheriff Howard J. Clark said any prisoners to be held temporarily will be placed in the Leontonia or Columbiana jails.

SALEM TAX RATE UP $3.20

New $27 Charge Due To School State Levies

Washingtonville's $33.60 Highest In County; Few Drop

Real estate tax rates for the county's 32 taxing districts, announced today by County Treasurer Vincent C. Judice, show Washingtonville's rate up $3.20 per thousand of valuation.

A 3-mill school operating levy passed at the May primary and a statewide 20-cent increase for children's bonus advanced the tax from $20.40 last year to $27. County Auditor Irvin J. Vondranian explained.

Washingtonville has the highest rate in the county for the second year, jumping from $20.40 to $33.60. Residents voted an additional $5 for school operations and approved two hotel taxes—for street lighting and a new fire truck.

Wellsville Lower

Wellsville is the only city with a reduced rate, dropping from $20 to $20.60 because of the expiration of a 2½-mill levy for a new fire truck.

East Liverpool residents will pay $25 this year compared to $20.60 last, having approved a 3-mill school operating levy at the May primary.

East Palestine increased 30 cents—the highest increase in the county—from $20 to $20.30.

Four other villages besides Washingtonville have increased rates because of school operating levies and the bonus. They are Leodonia, increased from $19.75 to $20.25; Ravenna, $19.40 to $20.40; Solonville, $21 to $22; and Salemville, $18.40 to $20.20.

Cover Year of 1951

Lisbon dropped from $20 to $20.60. Columbiana, $20.40 to $20.60 and Hiramwood, $19.40 to $19.60. New Washington remained unchanged at $20.00.

The rates cover 1951. First-half collections since Jan. 10 and estimated through Feb. 8. Treasurer Judice emphasized that amounts reflect voted levies, not the county-wide requirement which won't appear on the duplicate until 1952.

Skidding Truck Kills Wellsville Father

WELLSVILLE—One man was killed and another was seriously injured Friday, when an empty semi-trailer truck skidded on an icy street, barreled the curb and struck them as they were walking home from work in a bleak yard.

Marion Maltbitt, 50, father of four children, died in East Liverpool City Hospital about an hour after the accident.

Charles Wickham, 35, who received skull and other injuries, is in critical condition.

Police questioned the driver, who was arrested, the way he had, pending a coroner's investigation.

Butler, Pa., Department Store Ruined By Fire

BUTLER, Pa. (AP)—A massive fire destroyed the W. J. Clark Co. department store last night.

The store, which opened in 1928, was the heart of the town's shopping district.

Charles M. Graham, manager of the store, said he had been in the store when the fire started. The store's second largest department store was valued at $200,000.

No one was injured, reported. Origin of the fire was not determined.

There Shall Be Showers of Blessing

Gospel songs still popular after nearly a century

The United States was celebrating its 100th birthday when a new kind of sacred song dawned on the religious horizon, became immediately popular at camp meetings and revivals, swept across the Atlantic and circled the globe. Literary critics look down their noses at the words and conservative composers frown at the music, as do some at the words of Stephen Foster whose folk songs started the trend. Nevertheless the Gospel Song has become as much a part of America as Foster's plantation melodies.

It is interesting to note that more gospel song writers are identified with Ohio and Pennsylvania than any other states. (Foster was from the latter.) To mention a few, "The Old Rugged Cross" is from the pen of Youngstown's Salvation Army worker George Bernard. Cincinnati's William H. Doane set to music "Blessure the Perishing," "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" and "Pass Me Not." E. O. Russell of "Count Your Blessings" was from Ohio's Stark County and East Liverpool's Will Thompson wrote "Jesus Is All the World to Me" and "Softly and Tenderly." From Clearfield County Pennsylvania came Philip Bliss with "Let the Lower Lights be Burning."

"There shall be showers of blessing—
This is the promise of Love;
There shall be seasons refreshing,
Sent from the Father above.

"There shall be showers of blessing—
Precious reviving spirit;
Over the hills and the valleys,
Sound of abundance of rain.

"There shall be showers of blessing—
Send them upon us, O Lord;

Use of Santa Claus In Liquor Ads Banned

COLUMBUS (AP)—The ban on Santa Claus is going to stand in liquor advertising, that is.

The chairman of the state liquor board today said the board is "considering the advisability of rephrasing certain other paragraphs in the regulation." But he said, no change in the Santa Claus ban is being considered.

Chairman Frank M. Krebs said he believed the ban should stand.

Krebs made his announcement after Gov. Frank J. Lausche expressed his wrath over a rumor that the state liquor board planned to allow liquor advertisers to use Santa Claus in their holiday advertising.

"The sacred spirit of Christmas has already been over-debauched by commercials in radio, television and otherwise," said the governor.

"The state of Ohio should not follow the course chosen by the mercenaries. Instead, we should preserve the lofty moral precepts of the Christmas season in all their traditional sacredness and purity."

Youngstown Firm Given Ejection Seat Contract

YOUNGSTOWN (AP)—General Fireproofing Co. has received a government order for special seats to "shoot" pilots of disabled jet planes out of their cockpits.

The ejection seat, powered by an explosive, fires the pilot into the air where he uses his parachute. Air pressure at high speeds ordinarily would hold the pilot in the seat.

Price Ceiling Advanced On Coal Fuel Products

WASHINGTON (AP)—Expiration of the price ceiling order on coke, coal chemicals, and coke oven gas was extended to day from Dec. 31 to midnight Feb. 29.

The Office of Price Stabilization said the extension will permit producers to continue passing on to buyers the higher cost of raw materials, pending issuance of a permanent regulation governing the coal products.

How To Make Fewer Mistakes In 1952

RECENTLY a man put to me a rather curious question. It was obviously one which disturbed him considerably. "Why," he asked, "do I make so many mistakes?"

Then, before I could answer, he replied to the question himself saying, "There must be an awful lot of error in me."

It was a subtle insight. There are in the world two forces, truth and error. If a person is filled with error, it is going to vitally affect, and may determine all his thoughts and actions. As a result, he will get the wrong slant, make mistakes, do things wrong.

If, on the other hand, he is filled with truth, it will provide a different kind of motivation. He will have a correct slant, he won't make as many mistakes, but, instead, things will tend to go right for him.

It's just about as simple as that. And the idea is best expressed in the Scripture: "Ye shall know the truth; and the truth shall make you free." Free from mistakes for one thing.

WHEN WE BEGIN to analyze the causes of our mistakes, the first place to look is within ourselves. Psychologists tell us that the unconscious mind is the greatest determining factor in human nature. They explain that things hidden within the unconscious often erupt into the orderly conscious mind and cause us to do wrong things, say wrong things, and in short make mistakes because we are driven by some deep unconscious impulse.

One psychiatrist told me of the case of a young man employed by a newspaper who was sent to him by the editor because he was always making mistakes. One of these was the astonishing error of reporting that a couple had been divorced, when, instead, they had just become engaged! When his error was pointed out to him, he was agast and could not understand how he possibly could have done such a thing.

Psychiatric analysis showed that he had been forced into newspaper work by a dominating father who had always wanted his son to be a newspaper man. He tried to do his best, but his subconscious mind used his resentment against work he didn't like by causing him to make mistakes. Although, consciously, he was doing the best he could, subconsciously, he wanted to be free—he had the will to fail.

There are many stories such as this, some of them are hard to believe. Yet it is important to realize that many of the mistakes we make arise from some sort of turmoil in the subconscious mind.

HOW CAN YOU free yourself from error? How can you start the New Year right by resolving to make fewer mistakes in 1952?

The answer is to fill your subconscious mind with truth. Let it flow through you, washing out the error from your thought processes.

Where and how do you contact this dynamic revitalizing truth? The simplest way to do it is by reading the Bible, chief repository of truth. It is also made a part of your prayer, by meditation upon God, by submitting every decision, even so-called minor ones, to the spiritual techniques taught by your religion.

"The most powerful force in personality," says a famous psychiatrist, "is God providing in the subconscious."

IF YOU WANT to make fewer mistakes in 1952, you can begin right now today. Open your Bible and read some of it; plan to do this daily, perhaps just before you fall asleep so that its great creative thoughts can soak into your subconscious during the night. But aside from that, the proper error slant, the hidden error slant, is what you may be doing. To change that slant, you must change your subconscious mind. Use the Bible, the truth, the truth that makes you free!—from those major mistakes in 1952.

Columbiana

Name Winners In Contest

Samuel Lindsay Jr.
Awarded First Prize

COLUMBIANA — Winners in the Christmas home lighting contest sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce were announced Friday afternoon. The cash prize awards went to Samuel Lindsay Jr., 65 North Cross St., first, $25; Richard Uselton, 73 West St. North, second, $15; Dr. C. M. Koch, Firestone Ave, third, $10; Samuel Jenkins, 26 Highland Ave., and Bud Moser, East Park Ave., ext. fourth and fifth, $5 each. Honorable mention was given Philip Detwiler, 238 E. Park Ave., and Fred Liston, Pittsburgh St. Ext.

There were 18 entries in the contest, which was open to citizens in town and vicinity, and many other homes which had attractive displays could not be considered because of not having filed entries with the Chamber secretary, William Yoder of the Citizens' Bank. The judging was Thursday evening.

The contest was under the supervision of the Chamber civic committee, Rev. W. S. Longworth of the Methodist Church, A. L. Wells and Fred Detwiler.

EIGHTY WERE present for the Kiwanis Club ladies' night and installation of officers at Midway Grange, Thursday. Dinner was served by ladies of the grange, after which holiday fun-making favors were distributed and there was square dancing. Dr. C. W. Dewalt of the Columbiana club, Ohio district treasurer-elect, installed these officers for 1952: Louis D. Bair, president; William B. Arn, vice president; C. W. Furney, secretary, re-elected; and William Dickinson, Robert Barrow, William Longshore, Harold Nelson, Ray J. Miller, H. F. Richmond and Charles Fisher, directors. The club will wind up the year with a short meeting at Heck's restaurant Monday evening to afford members an opportunity to make up attendance.

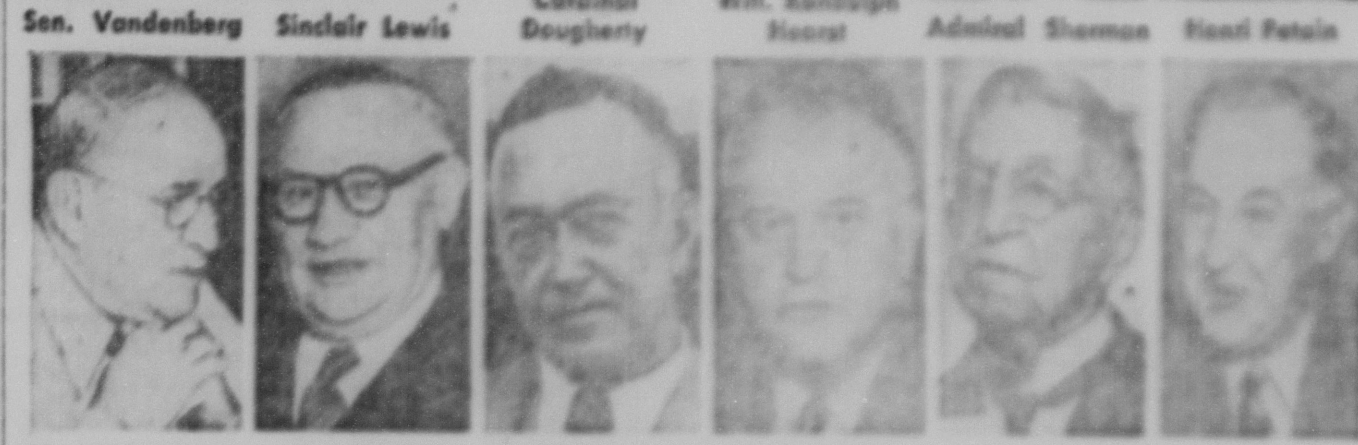

WHEN COLUMBIANA consumers of electric current pay their bills in January before the 25th, they will again have the advantage of the 20 per cent discount instead of the present 10 per cent. The large increase in the number of consumers has enabled the town to buy its current of the Ohio Edison in a lower price bracket, and the saving is being passed on to consumers. Owing to increased expenses, the discount was reduced to 10 per cent two years ago, but the growth of the town has changed conditions. Columbiana municipality has its own distribution system, which has given it a better rate from the Ohio Edison all along.

But It Isn't Bargaining

CONSIDERING all the angles which must be played skillfully to avert a steel strike, no one can be sure any more just what is happening. But the United Steelworkers will not call a strike on Jan. 1. Its deadline has been moved back to Jan. 3.

This is not collective bargaining in the usual sense of reaching some kind of a quid pro quo agreement in hard-hitting negotiations between unionists and managers. It is more like a process of arbitration.

Each side states its terms—not to each other so much as to whatever alphabetical agency of the federal government is currently in charge of letting nothing happen to production.

The coupon, the demands of the two sides are reconciled after a fashion. This process is speeded along by the prospect of a strike. Since the process produces higher prices as well as higher operating costs, it amounts to a method of making the government give both unionists and managers at least a part of what they have demanded. That is a process of arbitration.

No one wants a steel strike, except the Communist conspirators. So there will be no steel strike. What will happen from now on, like what has happened up to now, will be an earnest search for ways and means of giving both parties part of what they want as their price for producing the nation's least dispensable commodity.

Punishment To Fit Crime

IF IT IS GOING to be the whipping post again, as suggested by Senator Tobey for public officials who betray their trust, a few obvious improvements are in order.

The post should be reserved for that select category of wrong-doers whose wrongdoing at present is "punished" by a chance to retire from government service.

This would be the reverse of the post's function in a grimmer day, when it was reserved for the punishment of wretches who had no means and therefore had no defense.

The setup might be patterned after the code of military salutes. An official prominent enough to rate attention when credit was due would be considered prominent enough to rate a first-rate hiding when he proved to be a heel.

It's too bad Senator Tobey is talking to hear the sound of his voice, because the whipping post for crooks in public office would clean up things faster than a carload of new brooms.

Penny Wonderfals

IN DESK DRAWERS from coast to coast and border to border are little packets of penny post cards which may never be used after Jan. 1 when the rate for their use goes to two cents.

The thing which made them the most wonderful means of communication in the world—their nominal charge—has been altered. It goes without saying that the alteration will be resisted, even if it isn't resented. The extra penny of postage may never be forthcoming. It may be easier to purchase a two-cent card and start from scratch.

The penny post card habit, except for a short time during World War I, has been intact since May, 1873. "Private" post cards were authorized at the same rate as the government's cards in 1898.

"Dropping a card" has been the cheapest form of correspondence in the world for some 75 years. It still will be, as far as that is concerned. But at long last—a victim of new ideas, new times and new problems—the penny wonderfals are about to join the penny dreadfuls in limbo.

Incentive Plan

BETWEEN NOW and next Christmas, the remains of all the millions of Christmas trees which have had their day of glory must be disposed of.

They will be burned in one way or another—a spectacular instance of the whole-sale distribution which is part of the American economic pattern. There is nothing wrong per se in raising trees commercially for Christmas, except that the same number of trees permitted to grow to maturity during the last quarter of a century would have solved most of the reforestation problem.

The Christmas tree business has become a pointed reminder of what it is possible to do with replacement of a depleted natural resource when there is an incentive as strong as the going price of Christmas trees.

Actually, the commercially-produced Christmas tree is a far better product than the trees which once grew wild. If the same care and knowledge could be applied to the problem of reforestation, the United States would be a forester's paradise by 1975.

Some of the stockings you see are sheer today and gone tomorrow.

Business Outlook

By SAM DAWSON

Cautious Forecast Is Better Days Ahead

BETTER DAYS ahead is the view the majority is taking today. But when so many agree, a few see cause to take a second look—on the theory that the experts are never so likely to be wrong as when they all are guessing the same way.

Here are a few who aren't going along with the crowd:

A serious economic readjustment may start in the first half of next year, in the opinion of a man who does investment research for a large mutual fund.

Others in Wall Street point out that the rearmament program on which most persons pin their faith for prosperity in 1952 is at most only about one-fifth of the nation's economy. Any slump in civilian trade and production—the dominant four-fifths—could thus bring on a recession in spite of defense spending.

And Herman A. Papenfoth, president of the National Association of Cost Accountants, thinks corporate profits will continue to decline, squeezed between rising operating costs and controlled prices.

AGAINST THIS, however, is the prediction of the secretary of labor that next year will see new records set in production, personal income, consumer spending and in outlays for new plant and equipment. And also the assurance of Rep. Mahon (D-Tex.) who heads the house appropriations subcommittee handling funds for the armed services, that the defense program "will really be going full speed ahead" in the fiscal year starting next July 1.

To this you can add the forecast of the magazine "Business Week", out today, that in 1952 over-all business will be rising and that "rising consumer income will encounter a dwindling supply of goods; the inflation potential of this, plus the unusually large volume of saving over the last nine months, is clear."

Let's look, however, at the views of those who cry caution.

"The investment traffic light certainly is yellow now," Harold X. Schreder, vice president in charge of investment research of Group Securities, Inc., tells a joint session in Boston of the American Finance Association and the American Economic Association. He admits he doesn't know whether it will turn red or green next. But he adds this caution:

"We are late and high, not early and low, in the major business cycle and economic corrections of a very basic nature may be in the offing. Practically all types of the demand accumulated from 1930 to 1945 have now been met through the growing supply of goods since 1945."

"One should watch very carefully for a turn down in the current capital goods boom some time early next year. If this takes place, as currently indicated by the run-off of new orders, it would come at a time when cyclical demands for consumers' durables and housing are in a down trend. In such a case we very likely will experience a serious economic readjustment, beginning in the first half of next year, which may require a couple of years before we can get back on our longer uptrend."

SCHREDER EMPHASIZES that he is confident that the longer term trend will be upward. But he is a professional manager of money and investments. He has to study risks. And since it is other people's money his mutual fund is investing, it is his duty to use caution. His advice therefore, is to watch the trend of business spending on capital goods.

But "Business Week," which also keeps a professional eye on trends, guesses this way:

"Investment in industrial plant and equipment will roll on at its record high annual rate of about 25 billion dollars well into the new year. This, with a rising arms outlay, will continue to bolster the general level of business—just as this same combination ward off a recession in 1952."

A World of Good Will

By TRUMAN TWILL

THE holiday greeting cards which came to the Twillery this year were especially cheery. All were appreciated to the hilt. One card, especially, rang the Christmas bells.

It contained an outline of North America, South America and part of the Scandinavian peninsula. Inside the outline were dozens of tiny dots. Each represented a place where the senders could count friends receiving cards from them this year.

In a border four lines deep, running entirely around the four sides of the card when it was unfolded, were printed the names of all the towns in the two Americas and Scandinavia represented by the addresses of the friends. The card bore this simple inscription: A World of Good Will To a World of Friends.

Some parts of the annual Christmas-card race get pretty silly sometimes, like the nonsense of sending out last-minute cards to persons who were heard from unexpectedly—at the last minute. But the fundamental idea is as sound as anything turned out in the last few centuries of trying.

The card described was obviously the product of considerable planning by persons whose holiday greetings were vastly more than perfunctory routine. Being one of a series of similarly personal cards, usually accompanied by lengthy notes of special greeting, the latest card marks the renewal of a friendship which could not have been kept alive in any other way.

It takes the kind of people who know how to make something of friendship to work at it that hard. It takes the kind of people who really mean it when they say they have thought of you often since the last time they wrote your name on an envelope and licked the flap.

But from the most perfunctory to the most polished renewing of friendship is a matter of degree. Holiday cards are a sound idea because they provide an outlet for this worthiest of all possible feelings.

Men are at their best—and at it too rarely—when they are making other men feel more important than they would have a chance to feel, otherwise. At the price, the dispatch of a Christmas card is a gilt-edged investment in making others feel a little more important.

There are other ways to do it, like the man who comes around in person each holiday to tell you why he particularly wants you to hear him say, "Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year." But there is a limit to the territory he can cover. The postman gets over more ground.

There is no limit to good will, or there shouldn't be. Several thousand years ago, lacking a few years, a new religion was founded on the proposition that good will could be felt everywhere if men would work at it. The religion developed into a revolution against tyranny and terror.

Several counter-revolutions in recent years—including one now in progress—have gained headway. But each has died out, a little weaker than the one before; they are doomed to failure. They simply can't lick the thing that makes human beings more anxious to exchange Christmas cards than bombs and bullets.

Tin Blackmail Robs U. S. Treasury

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON INTERNATIONAL BLACKMAIL isn't all on the other side of the Iron Curtain. There is a good deal of it on this side. Some of the principal offenders are stockholders of Bolivian tin companies who live in Europe and who are closely identified with the British government and with tin interests in Malaya and Indonesia.

For the biggest hold-up in the whole field of raw materials today is in tin, for which Bolivia is seeking to extort a high price from the United States. If granted, such a price will send up the cost of canned goods in America and other articles using tin containers.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation, headed by Stuart Symington and backed up by the unanimous recommendations of the Senate preparedness committee, of which Senator Lyndon Johnson, Democrat of Texas, is chairman, is refusing to bow to the Bolivian extortion.

The facts are shocking in their boldness and in their utter disregard of the interests of the American people. Here are the essential points:

First, the Bolivian tin production is interwoven in the tax policies of the Bolivian government. The price of the tin is figured, not on the cost of production, but on the amount the Bolivian government and the rich producers choose to collect. It is true that the expenses of the Bolivian government are met largely out of the tin tax, but, if the United States government wants to subsidize a foreign government, it could be better done by a direct grant or loan than by boosting the price of raw materials in world markets. Bolivia, incidentally, has defaulted on every single loan made to her by the United States in recent years.

Sixth, the RFC has suspended its purchases of tin for the American stockpile until Bolivia ceases its extortion and comes to an understanding based on sound commercial practices rather than gouging.

It is apparent that the Department of State is giving heed to between the Bolivian government and the stockholders, who, according to London financial newspapers, are now getting a 100 per cent return on their invested capital and who expect even more if the new phases of the blackmail should be successful.

Third, the Bolivian costs of production—according to their own figures—have gone up only 23 per cent since Korea, and the RFC, which does American buying for the stockpile, has been willing to raise the pre-Korean price from 765 cents to $112 a pound, which includes the Bolivian export tax. This has been refused by Bolivia, and the Bolivian mining interests are demanding $150 and are saying, in effect: "America must come to us and accept our price."

Fourth, if the United States grants the Bolivian price, this automatically fixes the price for tin from Malaya and Indonesia and the Belgian Congo even though the production costs in each of these three areas are much lower than in Bolivia.

Fifth, if a foreign government can include an export tax as a part of the cost of production of a raw material and can increase that tax at will, the result will be, as the Senate committee has pointed out, that a foreign country has been given a key to the American treasury. The export tax has gone up 196 per cent, even though costs of production haven't gone up more than 23 per cent.

For its seems certain that expressions of resentment will come from Congress when the mutual security program is up for further appropriations next year and particularly when aid to Britain is considered.

The whole affair needs a thorough airing, and the Churchill government might well be the first to clean its own house and show the American people that it is not asking for aid on the one hand and with the other hand abetting Bolivian blackmail of the American treasury.

Advice For Gall Bladder Patients

A QUESTION which keeps cropping up has been raised by Mrs. R. E. W. who asks whether medical treatment is all that is necessary for inflamed gall bladder, or whether it is advisable to have the gall bladder removed.

This problem has been debated by doctors for years and even now there is no easy answer. In each case of the gall bladder, or cholecystitis, many different factors have to be weighed before a decision is reached as to whether surgery or medical treatment is best.

For example, one has to consider whether the gall bladder is acutely inflamed or has reached a chronic stage.

The physician has to judge whether he thinks the condition will improve (as many do) without operation; the presence or absence of stones in the gall bladder may enter into the decision. Important in many cases, too, is the age and physical condition of the patient.

Perhaps a brief discussion of this condition will at least be interesting.

The function of the gall bladder is to store bile and to empty it gradually down a small tube into the intestines. The bile is manufactured in the liver, when it reaches the intestines it greatly helps in the digestion of fats.

Inflammation of the gall bladder may or may not be associated with gallstones. In about two-thirds of the cholecystitis cases, the bile itself is sterile, that is, germs cannot be found in it.

Chemical agents—apparently even the bile itself—as well as bacteria, can produce either acute or chronic gall bladder inflammation.

When germs are at fault they may have come from infection in the mouth or throat, or have passed up the tube or duct from the intestines.

In acute inflammation of the gall bladder, severe but not constant pain is the first sign of difficulty as a rule. The pain is generally on the right side of the abdomen and is sometimes felt in the back under the right shoulder.

Nausea, vomiting, slight fever and swelling of the entire abdomen may come after a short time. The area around the inflamed gall bladder is almost always extremely tender.

Kimche

By HAL BOYLE

Food Only Koreans Can Eat

NEW YORK

WHAT is kimche?

This is the national dish—and what a dish it is—of Korea.

Maj. Gen. William F. Dean is a letter to his wife with broadcast this week by the Evening Post and that during his 17 months as a captive of the Reds he had become "fond of new and kimche."

If this be true, the gall, but general has shown as much stomach as a prisoner as a captive of the Reds he had become "fond of new and kimche."

Along with rice it is the staple item in the diet, but only a raw as enduring as the Koreans could survive it.

Only a Korean housewife can say for sure what kimche actually is. But so far as it is possible to analyze it seems to be a kind of pickled vegetable dish, composed largely of cabbage, peppers and spices insulated in a mighty tide of garlic.

The cabbage are harvested in the fall and stored for sale in the muddy market places of Korean villages and cities. The housewives buy as much as they can afford and try to pickle enough to last throughout the year.

FRESH KIMCHE will buckle the knees of the ordinary tourist. But kimche that has been pickling for weeks or months—the aging cabbage twining around the peppers, the garlic embracing and saturating it—is a delicacy only the natives can truly appreciate. For some reason unknown to gastronomes whom they actually strive upon it.

It is a matter of known record that a number of American soldiers have tasted kimche once. But in six months in Korea I met none so hearty he could boast of having willingly partaken of it twice.

It isn't the garlic alone, or the saltiness, or the peppers. It is the combination of all together, and the way time works them, that gives kimche its true strength.

TO A KOREAN kimche smells wonderful. To the average American it just smells. And anybody who has eaten it smells. It has an incredible distance to the breath, an aroma that seems to endure for days. Most Americans soldiers who go out with Korean girls begin their courtship with a flat statement: "Let's make one thing clear right now. You gotta choose between kimche and me."

Some American doughboys on a night-duty claim that no enemy could march upon them in the night if the wind were blowing their way. The substance of kimche would give away the attack.

My own prediction is that when General Dean comes home he may get one plate of kimche. But if he asks for a second helping Mrs. Dean will tell him firmly, "Honey, I love it or not, but there isn't another class of garlic left in America. How about some corned beef and cabbage?"

Looking Backward

From The Salem Files

FORTY YEARS AGO—Major Carlton returned Saturday from Yonaguni, where he participated in the annual New Year's Eve ball of the Veterans' Foreman of Yonaguni. He led the grand march.

Ralph Yonaguni, who has been spending Christmas vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Yonaguni of Yonaguni, returned to Columbus Saturday.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO—Eight persons, asleep in the place, escaped without injury when fire gutted the two-story frame structure housing a restaurant, poolroom and living quarters, owned by Alex Strick, at midnight Wednesday. The loss was approximately $2,000.

Mrs. John Lutz entertained members of the Tarry Aerie Club Wednesday afternoon. The hosts were decorated to attract and delight.

TEN YEARS AGO—John T. Smith today was appointed chairman of the Salem committee of the Oregon Defense Council of Salem by Attorney Ralph Atkinson, council chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Strickler and family left yesterday for Butte, Calif., where he has secured employment in an airplane factory.

FIVE YEARS AGO—Contractor John awarded last night by the board of trustees for the construction of a three-story addition to Salem City Hospital.

Philip Bender, who has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Bender of Cleveland, returned to Cleveland today. He is a student at the University of Chicago.

The average person's trouble are chiefly imaginary—the kind hardest to cure.

The optimist believes there are signs—that pessimist thinks they're none.

If you haven't a leg to stand on it's smart, or not to kick.
